

aT APPROXIMATELY 12:18 PM, ON 1/8/04, I received a call from (248) 353-3097, the name that appeared on the caller ID stated Bloomfield Customer. The call was a recorded message where it stated that is is not a solicitation but a request for a survey for home improvement to be sent to my home. I view this call as solicitation. Why otherwise would I need to be called if not for them to obtain business from me?

How do I go about filing a suite against this company? I thought I finally had relief from answering the phone from solicitors when I worked at home. Thank you for your anticipated response on this matter.
